“ Oh, Tim – I have trouble wrapping my head around the fact that I can't pick up the phone and hear your voice again. Can't see your face with those sparkling eyes, and the smile that illuminated any room you entered. I will miss your great sense of humor and your infectious laugh. You had the best laugh. For now I will have to be satisfied with wonderful memories of our friendship that was born during those long hours spent in the Triangle supporting CCS. You recently told me I was one of your favorite people. I think you know (I hope you know) that it was completely mutual. I will miss your face so much.

So cheers to you, Tim Atwell. Cheers to a life lived to the absolute fullest. You lived out loud, you loved, you laughed and made the world laugh with you, and you made a beautiful family. Well done, my beloved friend. You rest now. You did good. You did so, so good.
